

Installation manual for unsigned Apple applications

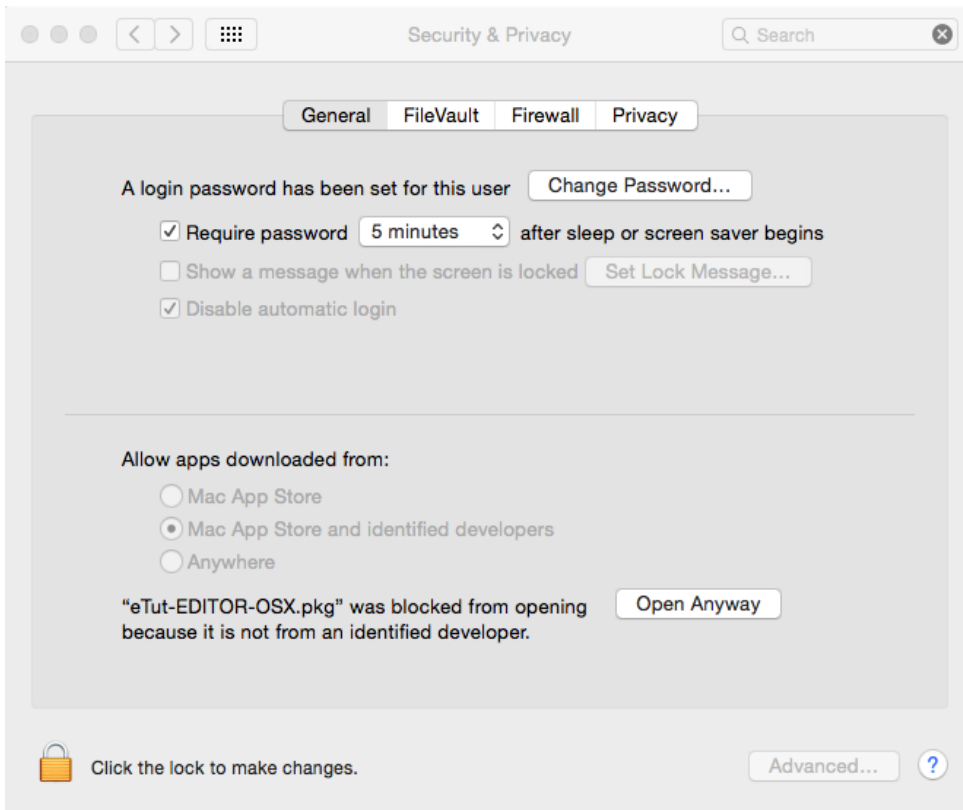

Starting from OS X 10.8 Mountain Lion, Apple has introduced a security procedure called Gatekeeper, to protect average users from running potentially malicious applications. The following window appears, running the installation package:

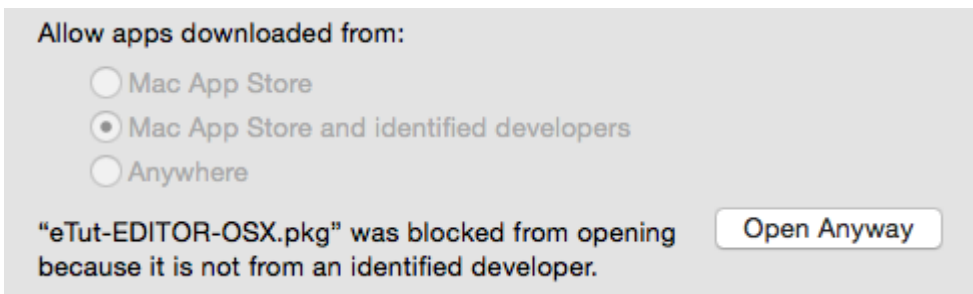

To disable this protection, click the Apple icon at the top-left corner of the screen, and open the: System Preferences window >

Security & Privacy > General

In the section Allow apps downloaded from, click on Open Anyway

To disable Gatekeeper and allow the eTutor installation that will start immediately.
